The Taney Buildings totalling approximately 626 sq m (6,740 sq ft) comprise three adjoining properties of cut stone and red brick construction with truss roofing, each with the benefit of own door access. The buildings incorporate a number of stunning original features including fire places, timber and ornate-tile flooring, stained glass pieces and traditional sash windows which contribute to the unique interior of the buildings. There is also the benefit of 7 car parking spaces.

A Rich History

The Taney Buildings are steeped in history and their origins can be traced back to the establishment of a parochial and charitable school for the underprivileged of the parish in 1792 or earlier. Parish schools were the oldest type of school, established in the Pale and their purpose to promote English language and culture. In 1859 this school moved into the Taney Buildings which accommodated two teachers and 43 pupils across the three buildings - Taney Hall, the School Building and the Masters House.

Description

The properties would suit a number of uses (subject to planning permission (if required) and currently provide a combination of open plan and private office/meeting room accommodation with WC and kitchen facilities in each building. 'Taney Hall' (the former church) has been adapted to include a striking suspended mezzanine feature which allows natural light to flood the main chapel space, complementing the character of the space. 'The School House' (middle building) provides a traditional specification with impressive timber clad entrance reception, open plan offices and converted attic space with exposed timber trusses. 'The Masters House' provides a more modern specification and could be easily converted into a residential building (subject to planning).

Location

The Taney Buildings are centrally located in Dundrum, a sleepy village turned bustling suburb approximately 9km south of Dublin city centre. The buildings enjoy prominent profile onto Eglington Terrace (accessed off the Kilmacud Road Upper) and are within minutes walking distance from both the popular Village Main Street and Dundrum Town Centre, Ireland’s largest and premier shopping centre. Dundrum has established itself to be a popular social, retail and entertainment hub with an abundance of restaurants, bars and cafes, shops and a cinema all within a few minute walk of The Taney Buildings.

The area also enjoys excellent public transport services including Dublin Bus (primarily Route 14 to the city centre and north suburbs) and the LUAS Green Line which passes to the front of the building providing a 13 minute journey time to the city centre. Dundrum is also easily accessed by road and connects to the M50 orbital motorway located 3km to the south via the Ballinteer Road/R826 interchange, linking to all major arterial and national routes.
